

After Hours

Scotland's Early Silver

Monday 23 October 2017

from 17:30–19:00

Young adults (suggested age range 14+) who are on the autistic spectrum are invited to come and enjoy exclusive after hours access to our new exhibition Scotland's Early Silver with their parents, carers or support workers.

The includes an introduction to the exhibition from our curator Alice Blackwell and a chance to ask her questions.

Please come to the tower entrance of the National Museum of Scotland. This is on the corner of Chambers Street opposite Greyfriar's Bobby.
EH1 1JF

For further information and to book a place please contact
Laura Bennison, Community
Engagement Officer,
0131 247 4435
l.bennison@nms.ac.uk

Please wait in the tower entrance where we will meet you and show you upstairs to the exhibition level 3.